

In my opinion the law should be stronger. My phone is for my use not others (after all I pay for it) and if I want to call someone or buy something I will and don't need the help of someone else.